

Homegroup Led Workshops for 2025

The '2025 Year 7 Wellbeing Conference' is your opportunity to courageously champion Wellbeing in our community, develop your strengths by taking on different challenges, and influence your reputation. You are a VERY capable cohort of students and we look forward to seeing what you produce to share with your families, Year 6, and special guests of Scotch!

Your individual or partner Wellbeing Scientist Research is not the only way you will contribute on the day... There is also the opportunity to be a student speaker and leader in various roles. This is a chance to show your potential to be a future leader in our community. Additionally, each Homegroup Class also has one key way it must contribute - by running two Workshops throughout the morning.

As a class, you need to fill 2 x 20 minute workshops. This is your chance to highlight what your Homegroup has researched and uncovered.

Each 20 minute workshops can be filled however your class wants. The second workshops can be a repeat of the first, or completely different! You might have a few students talk to the attendees and run an activity, or you could have 4-5 students share their findings and finish with a combined Kahoot!.

It is up to your class to design each workshop, however here are some details to consider:

- You will have approximately 25-30 students and parents attend each workshop.
- Make it engaging and interactive - please do not just talk the entire time (have questions, discussion prompts, activities, experiments, quizzes, etc.)
- The students in your Homegroup that are not involved in running your session will attend other sessions.
- You can repeat the same session twice, or have a unique session each time.
- Every session has access to a screen.
